

Chiltern - Mt Pilot National Park

Visitor Guide

This 21,565ha park is located between Beechworth and the low hills surrounding Chiltern and includes the striking Mt Pilot Range and Woolshed Falls. It protects a Box-Ironbark forest that contains a diverse range of natural and historic landscapes.

Chiltern - Mt Pilot National Park contains the highest number of mammal, bird and reptile species recorded at any Box-Ironbark site. Over 200 bird species have been recorded in the park including threatened woodland species such as the Regent Honeyeater, Swift Parrot, Turquoise Parrot and Square Tailed Kite.

Eastern Grey Kangaroos can be seen grazing during late afternoon and Black Swamp Wallabies are often observed darting out from rocky outcrops.

Exploring the park

Well formed vehicle tracks throughout the park provide access to a variety of short or day-long walks and are suitable for cycling, horse riding and low key car and four - wheel drive touring.

The park also provides excellent opportunities for wildlife photography and environmental studies.

Caution: There are many old mine shafts in the area, so be very careful if you venture off the tracks.

Facilities

There are a number of established picnic sites located throughout the park and Reedy Creek is a popular area for campers and prospectors.

Camping and accommodation are available in the nearby historic towns of Chiltern and Beechworth.

Plants and animals

The park consists of predominantly open eucalyptus forests of Red Stringybark, and Blakely's Red Gum, Grey Box and Mugga Ironbark. Prolific spring wildflowers include wattles, orchids, lilies, bush peas and many other native species.

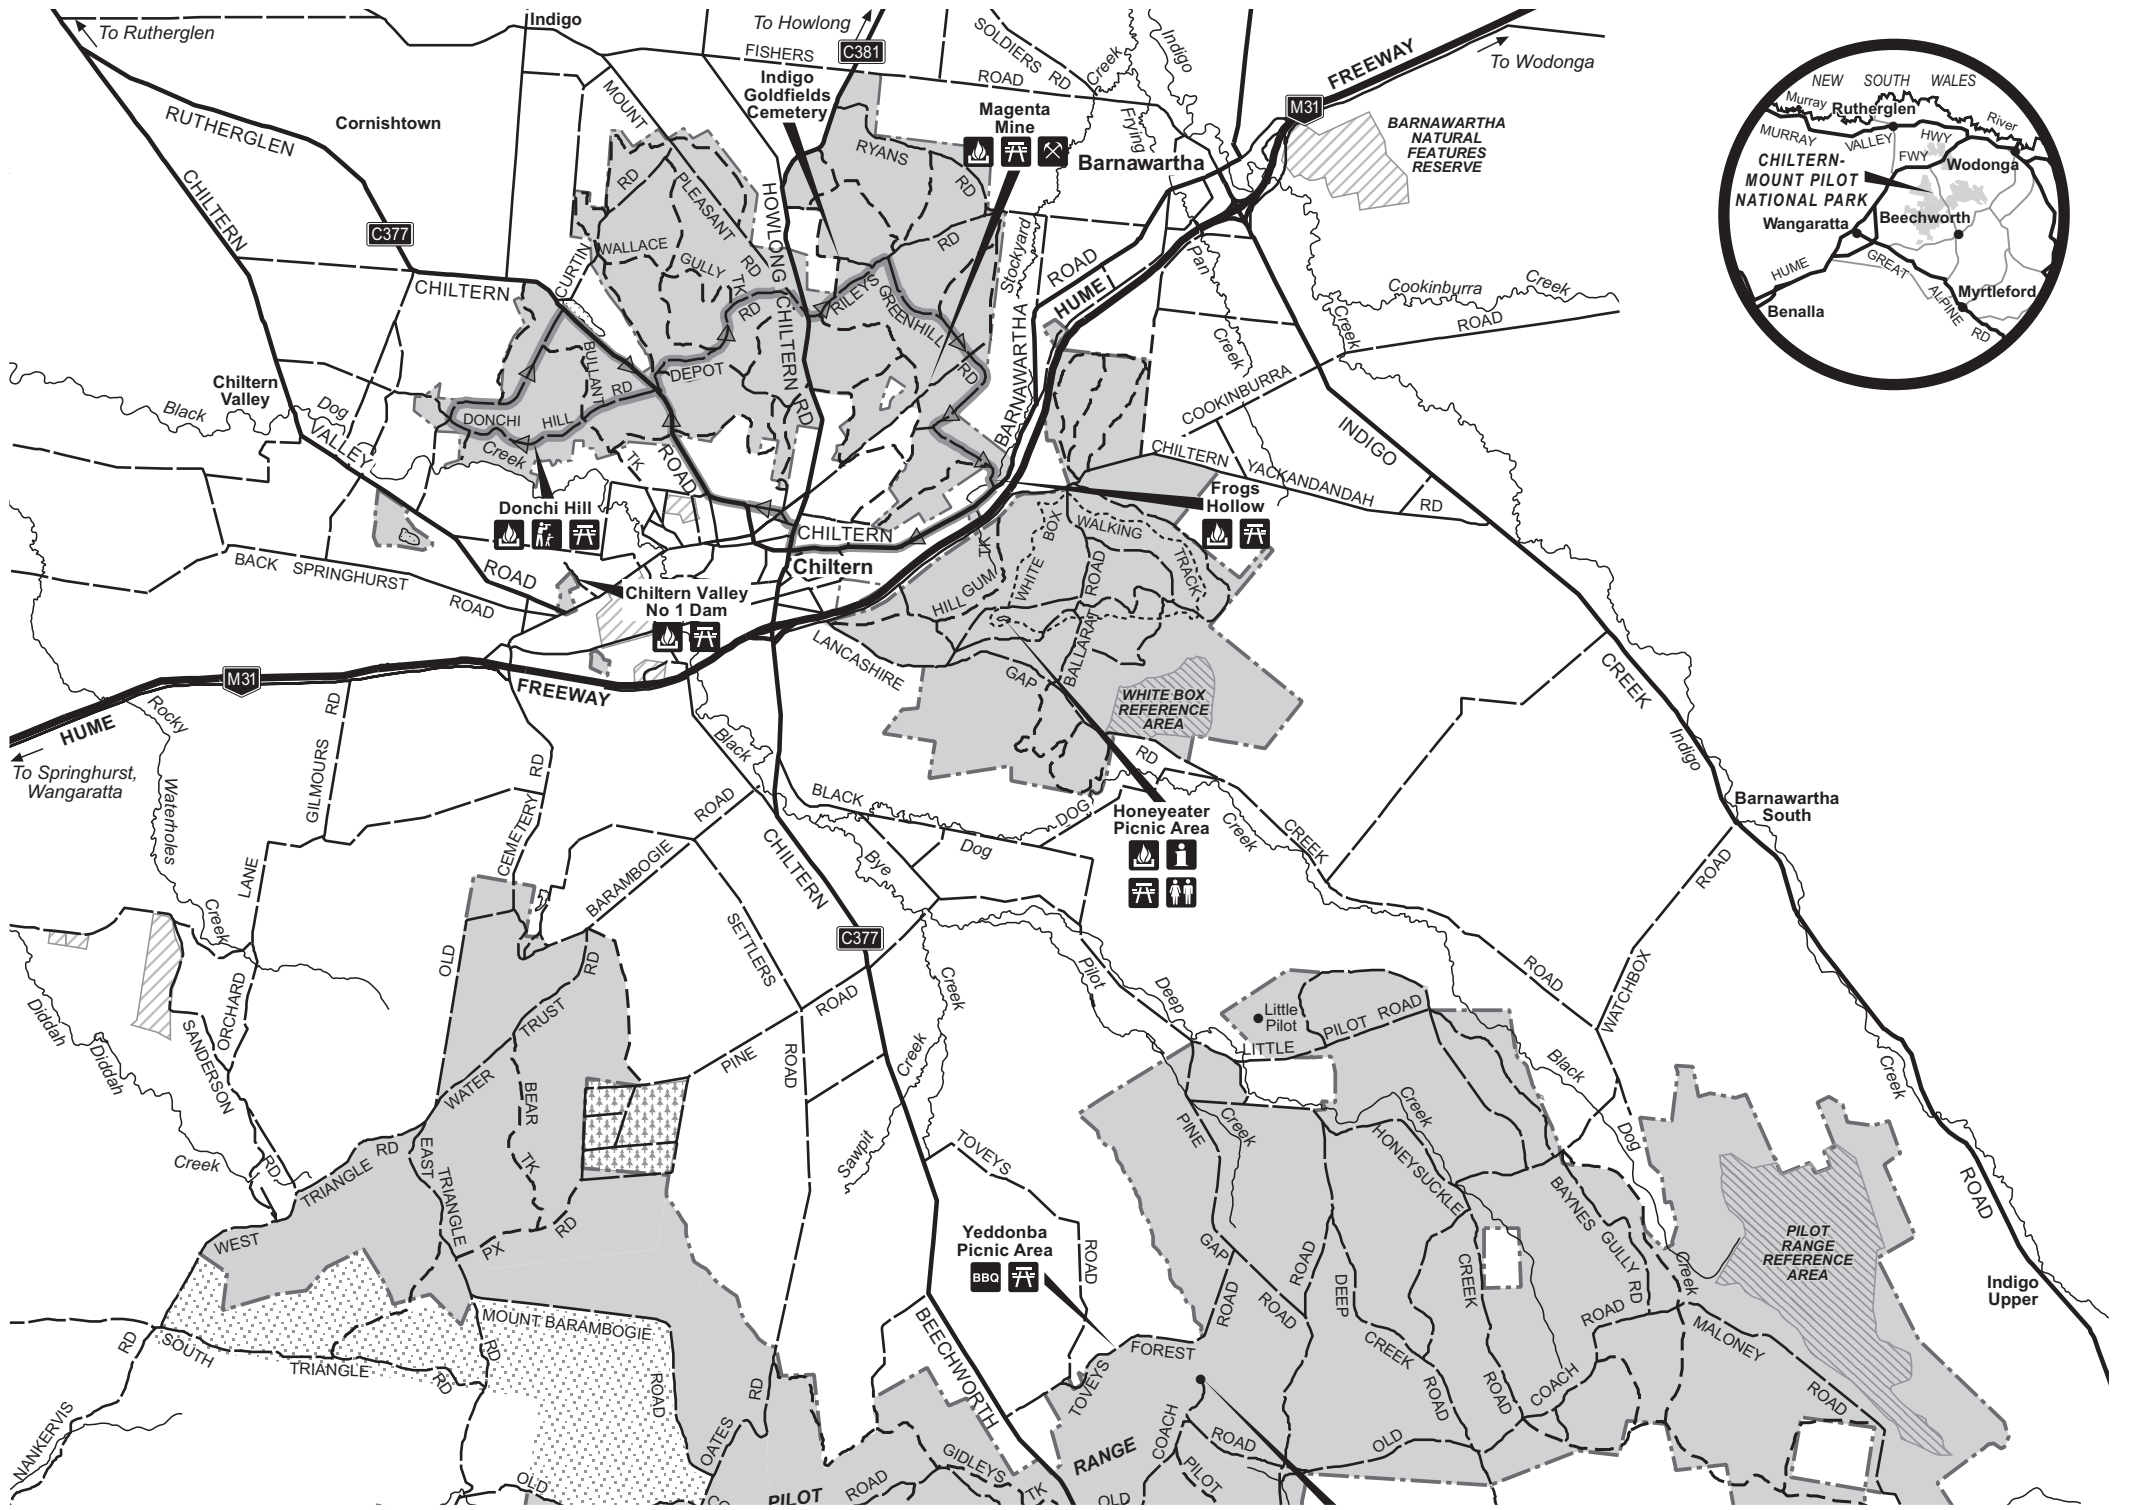

A variety of tree dwelling mammals including the Tuan (Brush-tailed Phascogale), Squirrel Gliders, Sugar Gliders and Feathertail Gliders seek out small hollows for breeding and shelter. The common Brushtail and Ringtail Possums are also found in the park.

In January 2003 a wildfire burnt approximately 7,000ha of the park. The natural regeneration and recovery of the native vegetation and wildlife will be a significant feature of the park landscape for some years to come.

Vehicles, including motor bikes, may only be used on formed open roads. Drivers must be licensed and vehicles registered and roadworthy

Aboriginal Culture

The Duduroa tribe was one of the Aboriginal groups who inhabited the Mount Pilot area. Other Aboriginal groups such as the Pangerang, Jaitmathang and Minjambuta would have passed through the area or camped in the valleys surrounding the Mt Pilot Range.

The native plants and game in these areas were plentiful. The groups also used the high country near Mt Buffalo for a short period each year to harvest the Bogong moth.

At the Yeddonba cultural site there is evidence of Aboriginal rock art. This site is of significant importance to Aboriginal people.

History

The Chiltern - Mt Pilot National Park was created in October 2002 to conserve and enhance what remains of Victoria's Box-Ironbark forests and woodlands.

The park has a rich gold mining heritage, with gold being discovered at Beechworth in 1852 and in a short time the town was the centre of the Ovens District Goldfields. Later in 1858 gold was discovered at the nearby Chiltern and Indigo Goldfields.

Thousands of miners took up claims on the Woolshed and Indigo Goldfields. Woolshed Creek got its name from an old shearing shed that was built near the creek.

Woolshed Falls

The Woolshed Valley was the location of several events linked to the Kelly Gang of Bushrangers. On 26 June 1880 Aaron Sherrit was shot by Joe Byrne at his hut in the Woolshed Valley.

For over 100 years the forests provided timber products and recreation areas for surrounding towns.

Numerous pioneer and gold mining sites can be easily viewed in the park including the pioneer cemetery and Magenta Mine near Chiltern.

Other interesting places to visit

Chiltern Historic Drive - Start along the Chiltern-Rutherglen Road and finish at Barnawartha Road east of Chiltern. Allow around 1.5 hours for the 25km trip.

Mt Pilot Lookout - Take a short walk from the car park to the 545metre summit of Mt Pilot, where you are rewarded with a 360 degree view of the surrounding countryside. On a clear day Mt Buffalo is easily recognisable on the Southern horizon.

The view from Mt Pilot looking north to Chiltern

Whitebox Walking Track - Start at Honeyeater Picnic Area. The 8.5km walk will take 2-3 hours and introduce you to some of the natural and historical features of the park.

Yeddonba Aboriginal Cultural Site - Situated at the foot of Mount Pilot, this heritage area provides an insight into local Aboriginal culture (The site is currently closed due to wildfire damage).

Woolshed Falls - A five minute drive north from Beechworth provides the opportunity to view the falls, have a picnic or take a self-guided walk around the alluvial gold workings. The falls are spectacular after heavy rainfalls.

Beechworth Historic Park - There are a number of walking tracks close to Beechworth. The Gorge Scenic Drive provides spectacular views of Spring Creek and Cascades Waterfall.

Warby Range State Park - Extending 25km north of the town of Glenrowan is a steep scarp range known as the Warbys. The Warbys provide excellent views, pleasant picnic spots and an outstanding variety of birdlife and wildflowers.

Murray River Reserves - The Murray River, with its majestic River Red Gums, sandy beaches and a large variety of wildlife, provides the ideal backdrop for camping and a range of water-based recreation.

Eldorado Historic Reserve - visit the largest, most intact gold dredge in Australia.
